

eSkill Introduces Reliable and Realistic HTML5-based Microsoft Outlook 2013® Simulations

eSkill is proud to announce the latest achievement in job assessment tests, with a focus on Microsoft Office® test simulation. Our innovative simulation tests are based on HTML5 technology and fully immerse the test-takers in Outlook® program environments as they fulfill tasks to prove their application knowledge.

In contrast to other simulation tests based on client-side Javascript, eSkill's new simulations allow for multiple correct answers and data entry test questions and do not require test takers to install or maintain current versions of Java or other plugins. These skills tests are more reliable, and users can take the tests on different devices and across multiple platforms.

eSkill simulation tests offer questions ranging from Beginner through Expert levels. All of the simulation questions allow for multiple correct methods, including shortcuts, and can be combined with questions from over 500 subjects for seamless, multi-subject tests.

About eSkill Corporation

Launched in 2003, eSkill Corporation has developed a focused expertise in job-based skills testing software and content. eSkill has tested millions globally since 2003 with zero legal challenges – the best compliance record in our industry.

eSkill understands that the most valid and compliant tests possible are tailored to the particular requirements for each job. Therefore, our unique software makes it easy to customize relevant multi-subject tests to fit a wide array of job requirements and other testing objectives. The eSkill Editor goes further, letting companies upload or create their own questions and tests online, to make eSkill their universal test management platform.

With over 3,500 combinable subjects and subtopics across a wide range of disciplines, including IT, Programming, Office Software, Accounting, Healthcare, Legal, Call Center, Retail, and more, eSkill has become a trusted partner in skills testing for thousands of companies globally, including Zappos, Randstad, Orvis, LG, and many others.

Our industry-leading simulation tests recreate software programs and work environments to allow you to evaluate how candidates will fulfill actual job tasks. Our simulations assess candidates' skills in many popular office software programs and customer service tasks, allowing for multiple correct solutions.
